JOYFUL COLOURIST

An artistic painting of two pink cockatoos perched on a branch, surrounded by dense, colorful foliage. The style is painterly and vibrant, with a palette dominated by pinks, purples, greens, and oranges. The cockatoos have white crests and are looking towards the viewer. The background is a dense thicket of leaves and flowers in various shades of green, pink, and orange.

A kaleidoscope of harmony and empathy with the natural landscape

Mellissa was born in England and as a child emigrated to Australia with her family. Since the 90's she has continuously studied and practised painting and printmaking honing her art to vibrant optimistic harmony with the natural landscape.

Her studio is set in a rural location overlooking the Hawkesbury River (NSW) and is inspiration for her paintings. An Associate of the Royal Art Society of NSW, Mellissa is an art & craft tutor and travels to teach art enrichment workshops around the country.

Be captivated by the powerful immediacy and extraordinary colour emerging from Mellissa's paintings. They are visually spectacular and invite the viewer to search for further harmony and empathy with the natural landscape.

The recipient of many Australian art prizes, Mellissa's style is distinctive with her electric palette and layered application of brush strokes. These characteristics come together presenting unique representations admired by both Australian and international collectors alike.

"The process of painting is joy for me. Florals and landscapes are all around us and with them I never have to struggle for inspiration. I invite the viewer into my world to see contemporary scenes in rich optical mixes of brushstroke and hue.

I know that my work will uplift others and look forward to sharing my work around the world through the licensing of my images in different forms"
