Splendor in Fall

Autumn is a lovely and enjoyable season for people of all ages. The air becomes crisper, the evenings grow longer, and the dazzling colours of the leaves emerge in autumn. When the bright green summer landscape changes to brilliant reds, oranges, yellows, and golds, we know autumn has arrived.

RACHEL SHEREE

"Rachel Sheree is an intuitive artist utilising her instinct and skill to create art of natural and organic themes with a whimsical twist. As an intuitive artist, Rachel rarely jumps into creating artwork with an end goal or theme in mind. She would much rather create art as an expression of herself to later discover the meaning (if any) behind her work. It can therefore be said that Rachel uses her art as a kind of therapy, it is her happy place and keeps her in the moment.

Using watercolour, acrylic paint, pastels, papercrafts and even bark, Rachel creates her paintings and mixed media projects by trusting her intuition. Her art will often explore the natural world through trees, florals and botanicals in abstract and semi-abstract compositions.

In the past, Rachel specialised in ceramic and sculptural art (and will at times revisit these mediums in her current practice), focusing on raw organic styling inspired by the natural world that often incorporates found objects and natural materials. Rachel is a Sydney-based artist with a love for travel who went from pursuing an Environmental Science degree to following her dream to become an artist (who now happens to work in libraries). She has exhibited in both Sydney and London in both solo and group shows and is now working with Artshine to license her art before settling down with a husband, two dogs and a little family".
