Fiona Solley - Surface Design Patterns

Fiona Solley

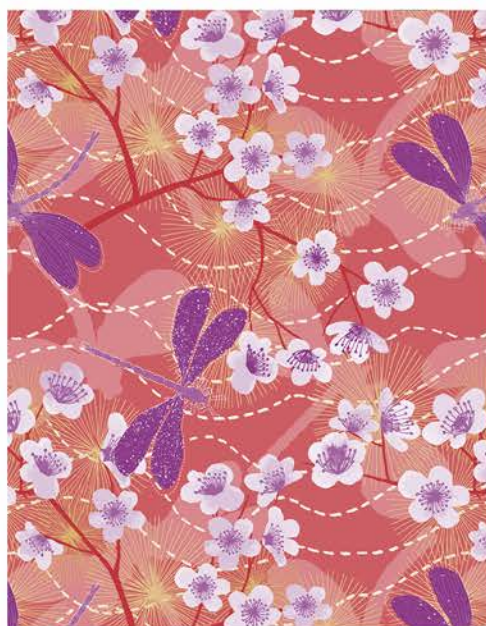

Fiona creates patterns and illustrations inspired by the BIG WIDE WORLD.

Fiona is an illustrator, surface pattern designer and lover of all things patterned. This passion for the pattern has led her to create repeat patterns, artworks and illustrations that are a glimpse into how she sees the world and to the connections between art and nature.

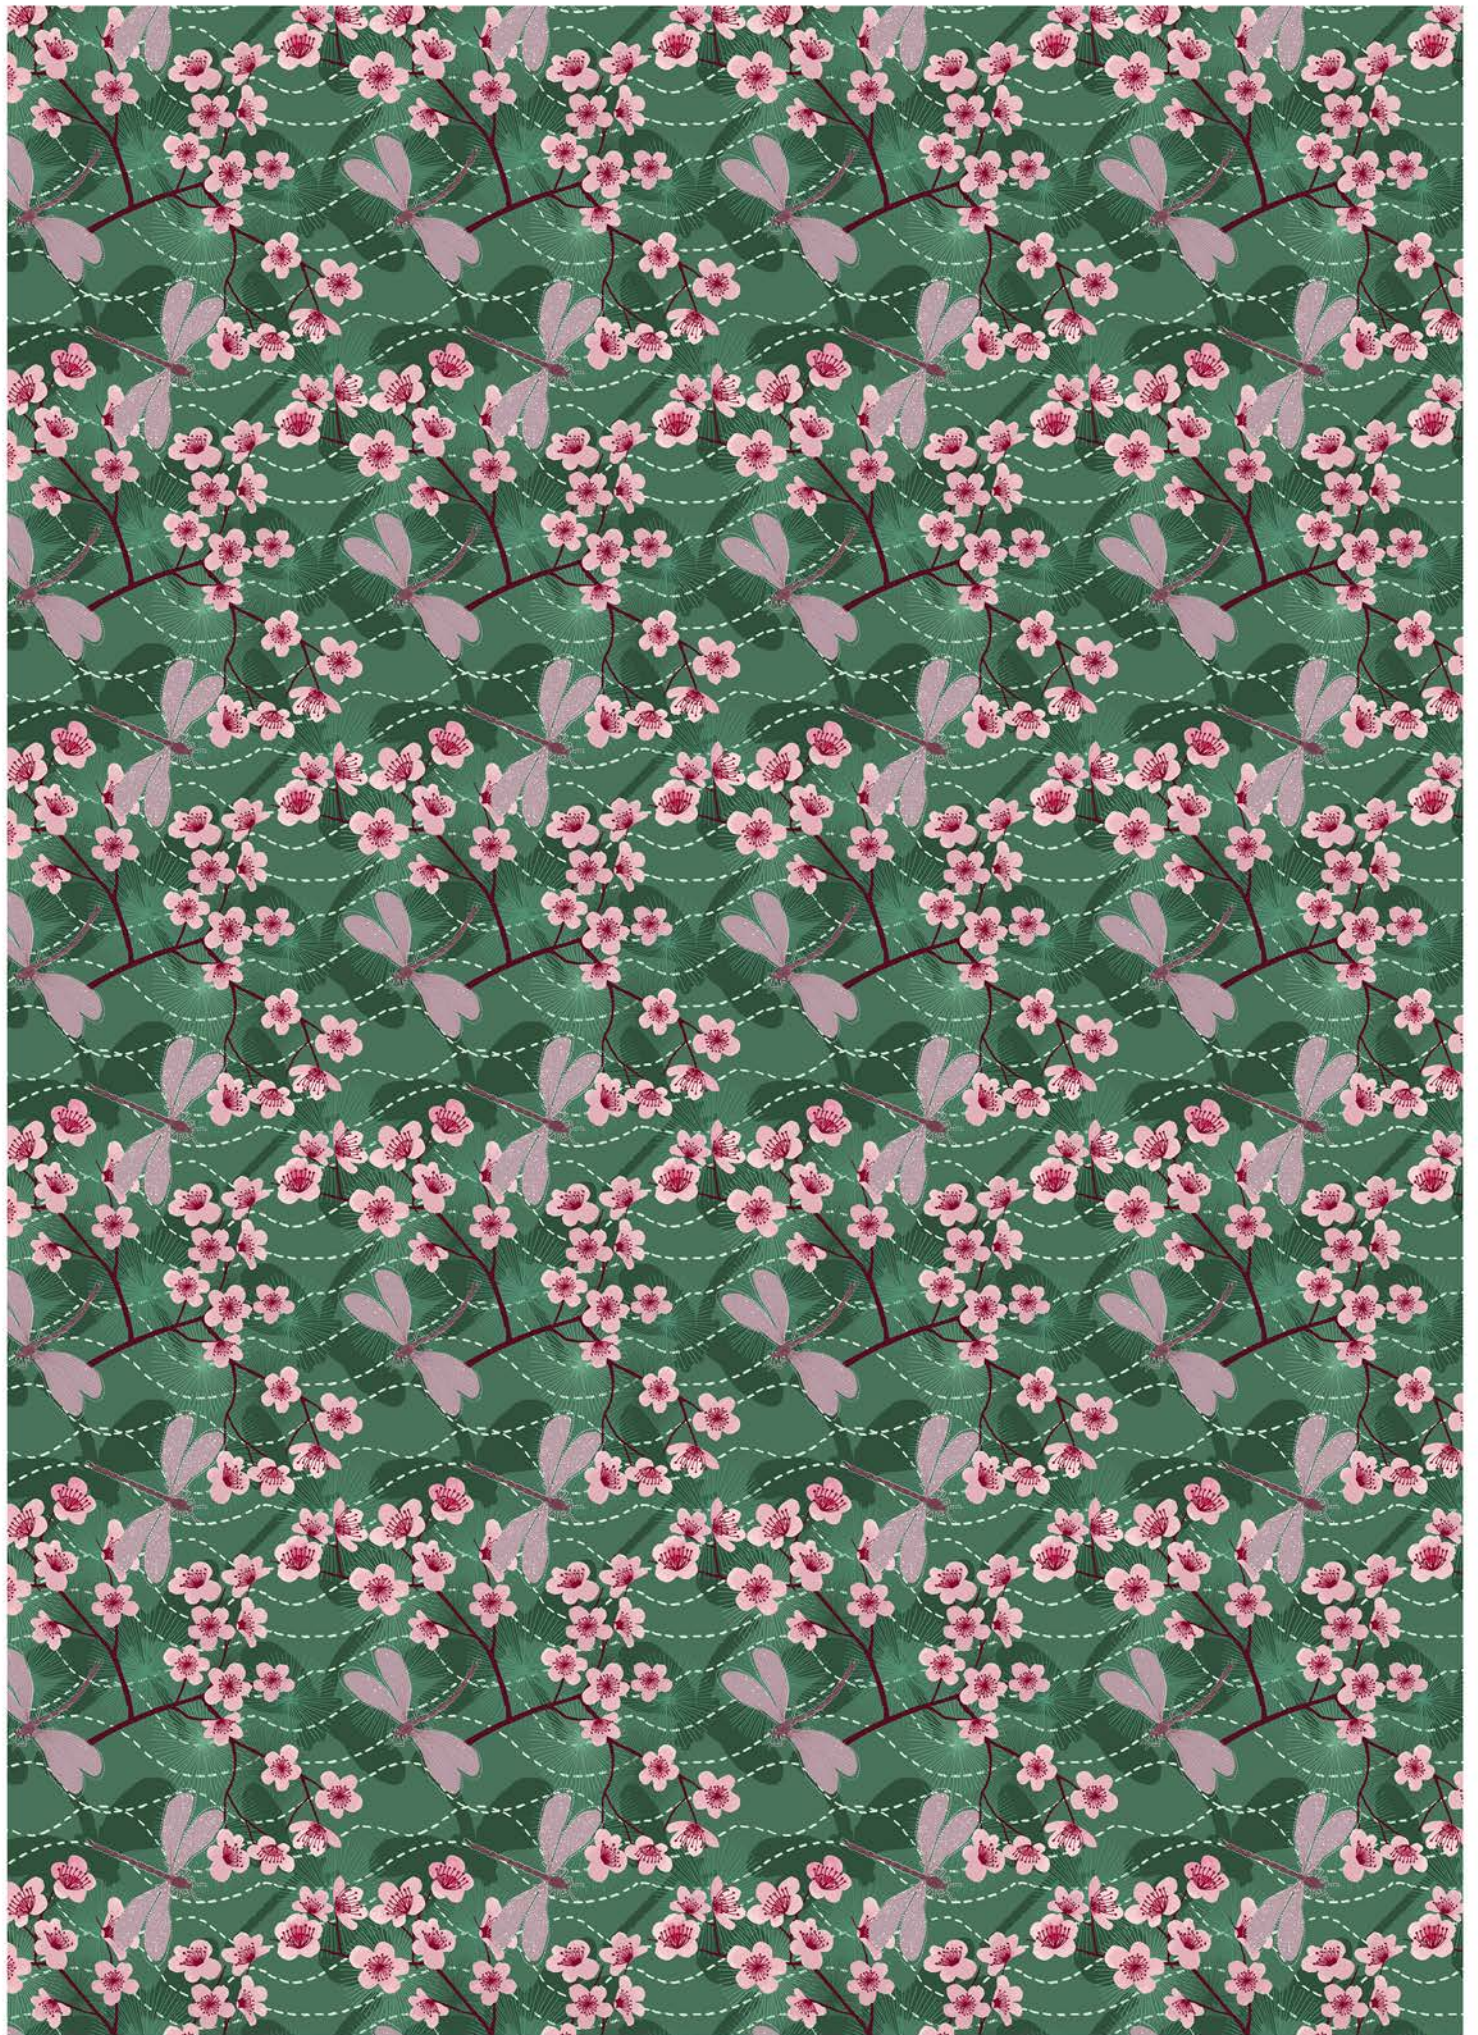

These works she creates are layered with textures, colour and shape to evoke the memories of her childhood bush and coastal explorations and how she loves being close to both.

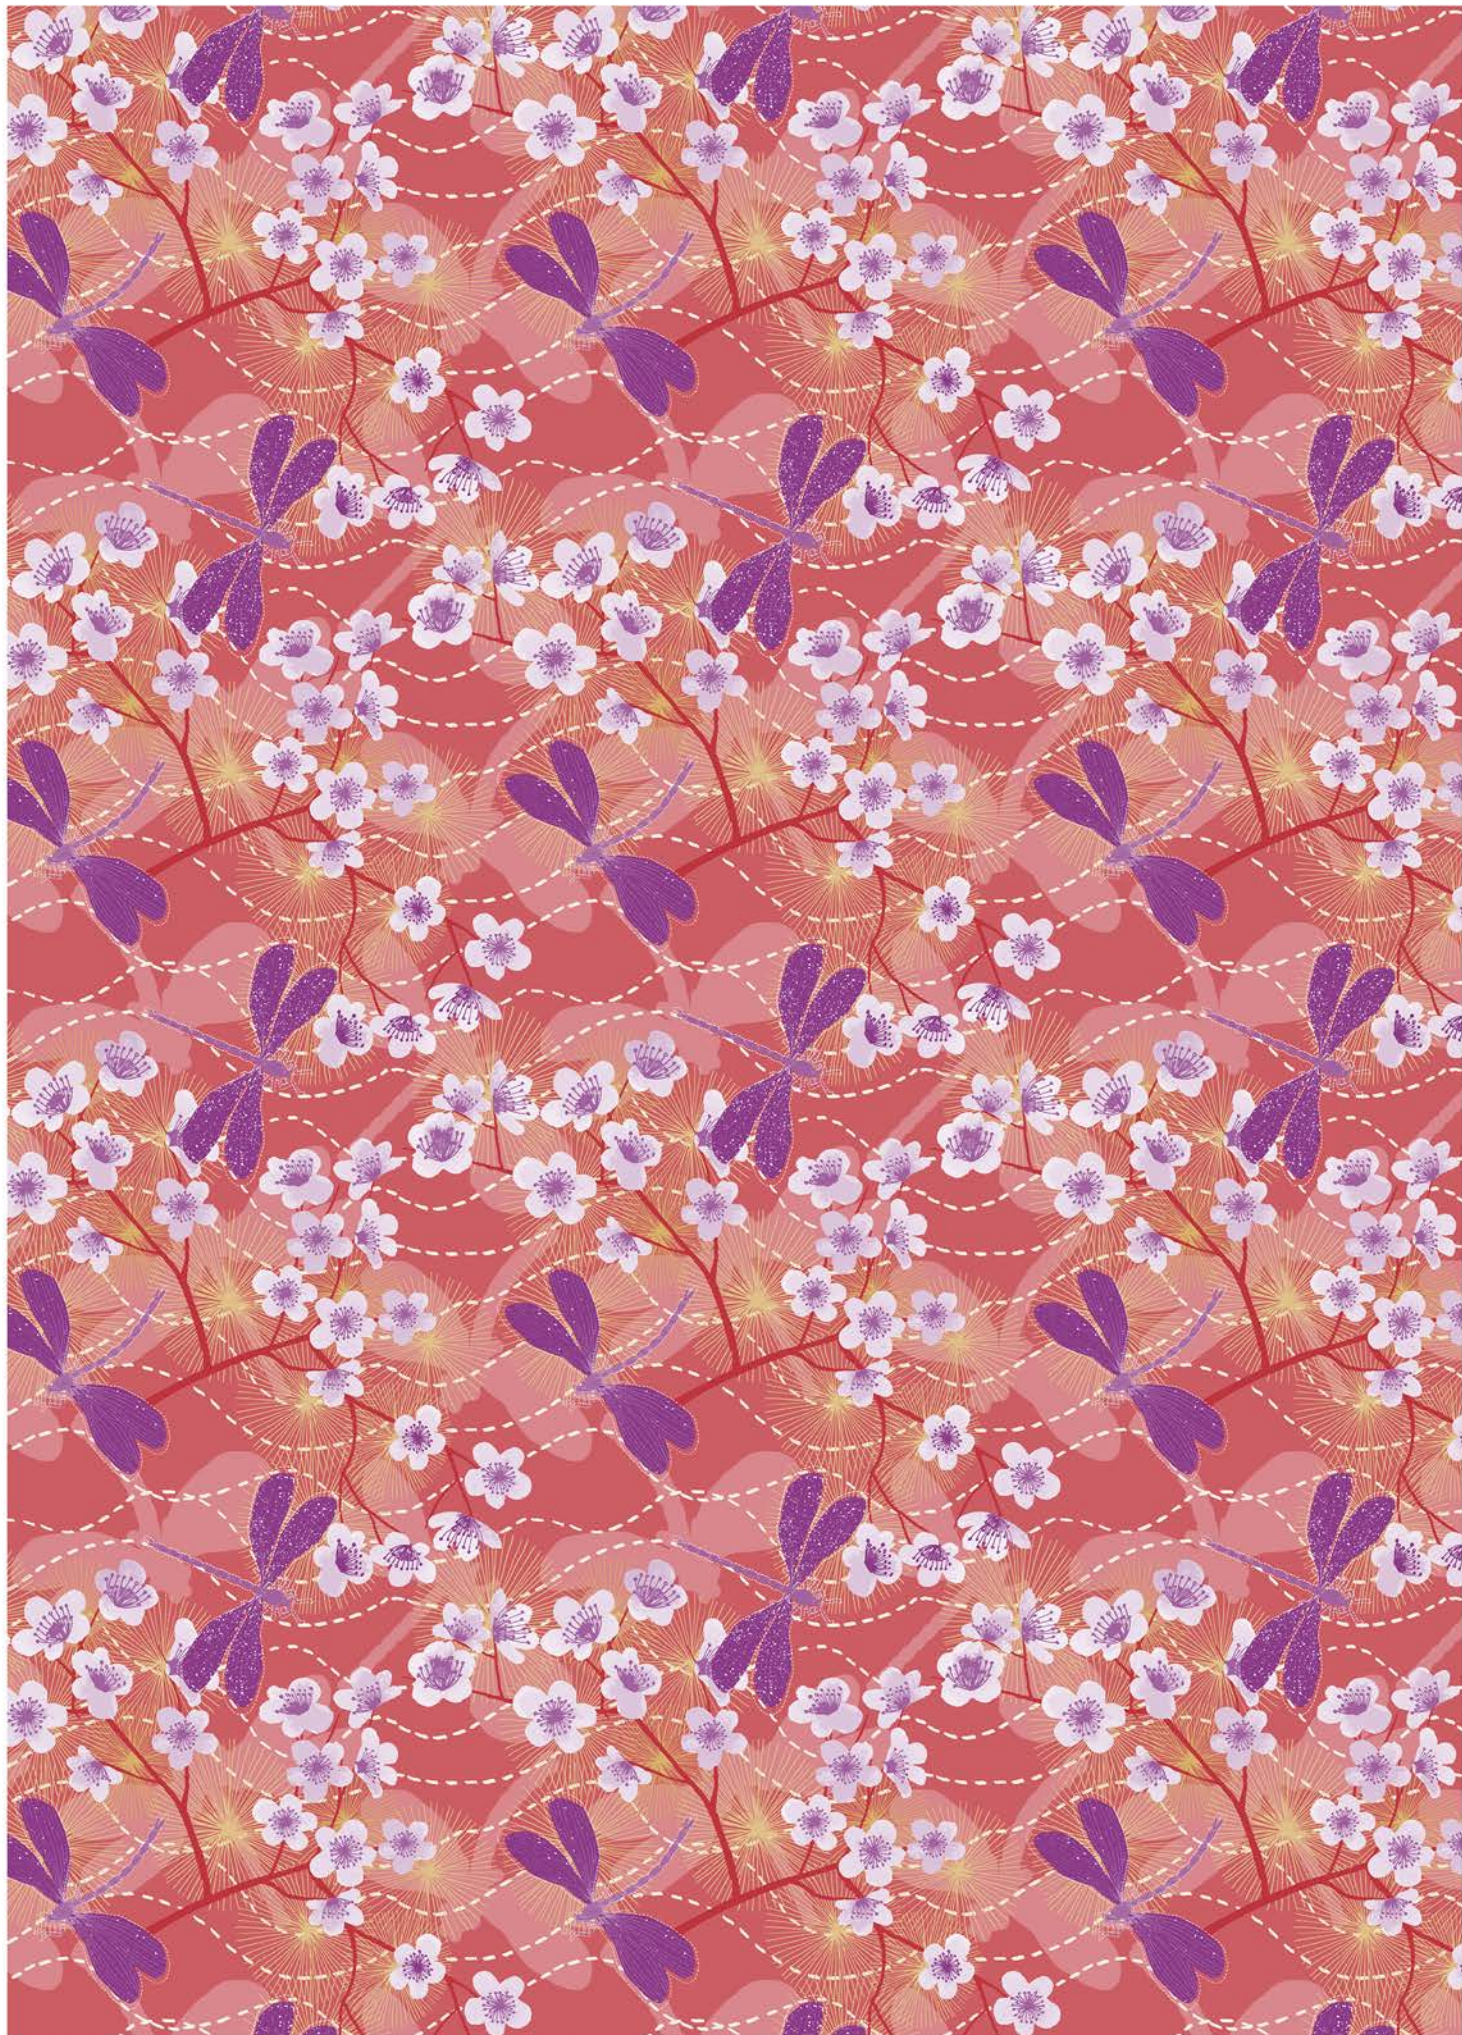

All designs start life hand drawn and painted, drawing inspiration from the big wide world, especially the botanical world. Fiona's work combines bold colour palettes of watercolour and gouache with linework illustrations. Once painted and drawn, she digitises to create botanical, sometimes whimsical, repeat patterns and illustrations revealing a wanderlust for the world around.

Being able to create how she sees the world is the best job in the world.
